“Meme Control & Millennia of Interference with Humanity”

These essays are presented for their value to anyone who cares about the future as humanity prepares to make the greatest shift in consciousness and existence ever. We cover a wide range of topics including social-values research, “future-views”, the world situation, and advanced spiritual perspectives.

“GLOBAL AWAKENING means individuals and communities becoming aware of and embracing their true nature – one of interconnectedness, service, and spirituality, as we express extraordinary dimensions of our larger being. “ stakes are the very highest.”*

Preface

In parallel with a few others who are looking at facets of the same problems, I have been immersed in examining the influences upon social memes that led to the present situation within humanity. This investigation focused on the recent century to the present, and far back to many millennia ago. This article was stimulated by various concerns, including:

- The apparent failure of the social-spiritual-progressives to become a movement that changes the world and supports humanity’s higher evolution as spiritual beings;
- the ease by which so many people are so “taken in” by false promises or fear;
- the distortions and masking of underlying dark force “archetypal memes”;
- the question of the “control matrix”, the “controllers”, and global power elite.

While many people would like us to “name names”, to do so would result in a catalog of possibly 95% of the authors and organizations that populate the spectrum of “social-spiritual-eco-progressivists”. To name only a few would focus too much attention on them. In context, there are hints for those who are aware.

Our investigations provided us with a deeper understanding of how bad things are in terms of social engineering control, the ramifications for enlightened social change, and the larger spiritual transformational process. At its core, the problem resolves to one of the pernicious and ongoing influence of the dark forces and the “false creation” illusions they project.

Humans have ingrained traumas of many degrees tracing easily to life in the womb, birth, and life in general. In addition, energy structures from other realities tie in at various levels of the human existence as well as to our higher dimensions of existence. This presents overwhelming impediments against “success” in terms of awakened society ever emerging from the present iteration of humanity. Hence “outside” help was required and it has arrived. But this does not mean that the coming few years will be easy for humanity, to the contrary.

This article is an overview of a larger effort aimed at identifying nearly continuous influences and interferences in human development over many millennia. One goal was to identify common patterns of thought and memes and to understand the deeper agendas. Once that is made recognizable, it becomes easier to develop ones own “truth meter”.

The overwhelming majority of the new age, new thought, integralist, “ufo afficianados”, and related tendencies are the result of careful and deliberate shaping of memes over the past 50 years especially and over an even longer period of time of centuries and millennia. In many cases the leading individuals have backgrounds directly traceable to various secret projects and social engineering programs at many levels of authority. In other cases the leading individuals were easily manipulated through controlled choices or through various inducements. Once situated, they would naturally defend their new positions of influence.

In contrast there are those who are actively working to develop spiritual growth by connecting to original Source and higher self while involving the human self. With over six and a half billion people alive today, this fraction would represent a large number of people, even though it is small as a percentage of Earth’s population. However, many still find themselves wavering between the spiritual and material worlds. Usually this stems from a heartfelt and compassionate self that wishes to “make things right” –and for this they cannot be faulted. Yet they are unclear in the nature of reality and so waver between the call of Spirit and the call of “righting-what-is-unright” for those trapped in the “matrix world”. In this period now, people must choose, especially those who are called to align with their highest spiritual aspects. While both should be possible, only one can be primary for any one person and thus the question of “choice” and “choosing” takes on a most profound significance. Once an ascended perspective is realized, this ceases to be a dichotomy. (This is discussed further in the this issue in the article on “Bifurcations” as well as the August 2008 issue of Global Awakening News concerning the profound changes and choices we are facing as spiritual beings.)

There are so many who are confused and naïve and thus unable to discern much for themselves. Their main wishes arise from a distorted mixture of biological impulses mixed with personal love and caring that their children may have a “better life”. This is of course heavily manipulated by the terrible programming of the matrix “controllers”. Most will fight for what they think is right in whatever way they can. Unfortunately these people constitute a large portion of the human population and their “compasses” are not working. Neither their “horizontal” compasses relative to navigating human society, nor their “vertical” spiritual compasses to find “home”. Hence they will impulsively react to circumstances.

For those mainly focused spiritually, so much rests on the ability for enough people to stay centered on connection to their higher-self levels and to Source. No more “celebrities” and their workshops who dispense recipes for wealth and happiness. No more promises of grand organizations or coalitions promising change, only if... No more external authorities.

Given that we are all holographic-like fragments of original Creation, why would Creation deliberately create a situation in which it objectively tortures Itself through its own creation?

“Falsehood versus Truth, connection to false creation versus connection to true Creation. This is what is at the essence of what is on the table for humanity today and the stakes are the very highest. It is time for those humans most concerned about the spiritual evolution of the Creation’s expression of itself through the human species to exercise discernment and higher choices.”

Out of the Woodwork

Hidden at the core of the most terrible of falsehoods is the separation of divine right to our connection to original Creator/true Source. On Earth, falsehood masquerades as truth and even adopts the words and symbolism of peace, love, Christ, global awakening, oneness, Jesus, etc. Ordinarily, humans encounter these meta-level falsehoods in ways that promote serving self, serving the human species' collective self, and serving fallen entities that actually are dark beings posing as “light bearers”. These fallen entities have been focused on becoming the center of what would be accurately termed a fallen sector of creation.

A few of the cleverer human allies of the dark forces will acknowledge much of this situation. Ultimately, it is about the primacy of the dark forces and its human, extraterrestrial, or “ascended” intermediaries and counterparts and their bid to prevent connection with original Source. If the rule of the dark were to continue from this point on, and if allowed to project itself into the future, perhaps no one would ever remember there was any original Creator, only the false gods.

Entering into this sector is a risky matter, most especially for those from the non-fallen portion of Creation. This risk includes “dark light” being mixed in with and assembled with the “true light”. This makes it very difficult for spiritual beings to re-unify their energy bodies and reunify with their own higher self. This in turn becomes a convenient rationale for blaming an “incorrect” humanity for the existence of polarity and the dark forces. Hence the importance of clearing the energy bodies and the mental-emotional mind, and this underscores why it is such a priority in the transformational process.

During the most recent decades there were people who rose to a position of influence when resources and relative freedom were abundant, and who could have facilitated a more enlightened humanity – but they failed to act for the highest good. Many of those people helped perpetrate or propagate various social and spiritual falsehoods, sometimes deliberately, sometimes through active denial. Today, many of the very people who were unwilling to cooperate for a higher purpose than their own small ponds, are now being nudged forward by the dark forces to prepare for global and national roles. Their role at present is to help control and misdirect people while providing a new mask for the dark forces. At this point most people are unable to recognize them for who they are and what they represent. This is further complicated by the circles of well-meaning but naïve people who surround these leading individuals and their organizations.

Two examples of this are emerging now that promote the falsehood of global threats to human/earth life intended to justify one-world control and mask the nature of the controller elite. One is the global warming banner that brings together NWO/UN interests, global warming propagandists, climate change fears, and integral culture/new age tendencies. The outcome would be to place a new public mask over the TPTB and the dark forces. The other is introducing alien/ET contact and in so doing both elevates this as a threat as well as to open the door to some of the darker elements of the ET's races who have been in league with TPTB of humanity. Combined, this raises a new set of threats designed to get people to accept ongoing control by the TPTB.

While we maintain it is possible for the individuals involved to change, even those who have been enthralled by the dark forces, this is not our problem or focus at this point. Furthermore, earth changes and dimensional reality shifts may limit the effectiveness of these new gambits.

For those who remain focused primarily on the 3-D physical world of humanity, they will find life a hard road and true awakening elusive as long as they place spiritual awakening secondary to struggling in 3-d. Only higher-self can properly inform ones actions, whether such actions be for the benefit of society or in working with nature or technology. There are those who are relatively young in age and who possess greater higher-self awareness than do their parents. What sort of world will they grow up in over this coming decade? It is likely to be one of struggle and conflict as humanity sorts itself out. What effect will this have on them? And what of those who are now young adults who grew up without much of any higher guidance from their parental generation? Assuming humanity continues to continuously occupy this Earth, it will be two generations hence before enough of the vestiges of the old ways and the dark memes recede significantly.

Barriers to Evolutionary Growth

There are still so many people who attribute the aberrant errantry of humanity toward its own existence to psychological or political or religious manipulations -- or to some vague myths of an “innate” human condition. This attribution of cause is itself a falsehood that by design keeps people looking for non-existent solutions within a limited sphere of awareness – a “glass-ceiling”. There are those who discover this “ceiling”. To them, there is either sense of hopelessness or impetus to break this barrier down. To those in the latter group who would organize social revolution, they are easily manipulated into actions that ultimately benefits the control elite. Such has been the true history behind most social revolutions in the modern era.

There has been another level of “glass ceiling” existing at higher dimensional levels within the fallen sector. This was made up of energy fields that imprisoned countless many who ventured into the Earthly 3-d and other realms within the dark-controlled sector of creation. Many who were spiritually advanced sought ways to escape this energetic prison and return to the realms of light where the dark forces do not exist. Unfortunately for most, being in the 3-d realm resulted in portions of “true light” becoming mixed with “dark light” energies. With many generations incarnating under such conditions the process became self-perpetuating. From the limited perspective of 3-d, there was even an illusion that there were ascended beings free of these constraints. Of course from the perspective of some of those ascended beings, while they may be freed of a bodily existence, they were not fully free to rejoin creation that was outside of the fallen or dark-controlled portion. (This is discussed more in an article in this issue on “Ascension and Transformation”.)

Are you ready to live in a state of non-duality and non-conflict and non-fear? Is the prospect of this at all intimidating?

The Controllers

While this material is focused mainly on the effects that are observable among human society, it is foolish to think that it is all a purely “human” problem and so it is necessary to consider higher level dark forces and ultimately the very process of Creation that led to this problem.

The dynamics of the higher level dark forces and the earthly powers-that-be are not a simple “puppet-master” model. Many people incorrectly assume a clear control and command structure carried out by various human and non-human entities. This is a projection from those who attribute way too much control capability to these interests. However, the dark forces with their earthly allies are focused on a narrow agenda: consolidate their dominion over as much of as possible (and all that may entail); and parasitize or otherwise take energy from those under their control and within their domain.

Human global controllers have a relationship with various levels of the dark beings including various extra-terrestrials. While many of the earthly top echelon are connected by old bloodlines, this is no longer their main distinguishing characteristic. The human elite is not monolithic and its members have factional differences and covet the domains and influence of their fellow kind. Since they have no ordinary loyalties whatsoever, except to power and control, they are very good at manipulating any political, religious, racial, national or other type of difference among humanity to further their goals. They will exploit any number of fears and foibles of people, ones that they have helped inculcate. In so far as their goals benefit and serve the interests of the dark overlords, they receive a great deal of assistance in their schemes to manipulate the 3-d material world of humans. Having a well-focused agenda and the “home advantage” over material and human resources has made it possible for the-powers-that-be to achieve what they have. When examined from a more cosmic perspective, however, this advantage is ending. The question now for those hailing from the higher spiritual dimensions as well as those spiritually minded humans on the ground is how to make this transition as rapid and painless and thorough as possible.

The Global Elite, a/k/a “The Powers That Be” (TPTB)

Who are these people who possess extreme influence over the affairs of nations and entire societies? Their wealth is immeasurable and would far exceed what is published about the top “billionaires” by news magazines. They are not motivated by economic wealth, but rather by power and the development and projection of power, including beyond Earth. Their family bloodlines date back more than centuries. One influence within this top echelon of the elite that carries forward to the present dates to biblical time and continues an orientation through bloodlines and/or loyalties. Through family ties, rituals, and intent, many maintain a synergistic relationship with higher dimensional dark entities as well as certain extra-terrestrials. Much of the terrible psychological perversity of humans can be traced to these relationships. In addition there are various dark yogi/guru’s who have directly corrupted more than one potential leader and their support networks.

In terms of scale, the top echelon and their immediate close circles number in the hundreds. They in turn rely on a second tier of loyal intermediaries who in turn work through various key individuals highly placed in society. This then flows to a third tier of leading executives who oversee the significant policies in government, business, religions, militaries, financial centers, media, science, medicine, education, consultancies, philanthropic organizations, NGO’s, and all other significant institutions that direct human life on Earth. Most of this third tier number in the tens of thousands and are often publicly identifiable. They in turn rely upon a fourth tier of individuals numbering in the hundreds of thousands to carry out and manage all their various initiatives in all sectors of society. A fifth tier would include a broad group of influencers who are not especially powerful as individuals but who are an important part of the social control process and help maintain the conveyance of financial and other energies through much of society and social castes. If asked, most would likely not admit to this role and would prefer to believe they act out of the strength of their “own beliefs”. However, many of these influencers benefit materially through salaries, grants, consulting and speaking fees, etc. In other words, they are manipulated themselves by the very social memes that enthralled them. They in turn spread the roots of the dark influence deeply into society where so much of society is involved in maintaining themselves in a virtual prison.

Social Control

The control of information, ideas, and responses is extremely well orchestrated and finely tuned. Where there is the possibility of serious dissent, this is readily co-opted through various means, resulting in leading “critics of the system” actually becoming gatekeepers for the very system they purportedly oppose. This is seen in the main and alternative news media as well as academia and consultancies. The term “manufactured dissent”, coined in the 1960’s and 70’s, is very apt today.

The global elite operate under two major assumptions: one is that they recognize only their own authority and to some extent that of their higher dimensional counterparts; two, they also know that their time is limited and their options are becoming thin. Their arrogance is largely based on their historically proven ability to succeed at their goals in nearly every way imaginable. They regard themselves as having the innate right to rule over all humanity and earth. They have become most effective at developing increasingly sophisticated ways for humanity to be tricked into enforcing the “matrix world”, This is done through endless variations on themes, spun out for the primary and fundamental purpose of engaging their prisoners (humanity) to act as their own jailors and even feel “right” about it.

With complex societies and economies involving several billion people, this would ordinarily leave a great deal of latitude for success. However, a “glitch in the matrix” has emerged as a combination of severe and growing economic crisis, military crises, changes in the planetary and space environments. There are hints that the top circles of TPTB are anticipating fundamental change that they can do little about. This latter point is important to bear in mind since, among the top echelons, there is an attitude of “we cannot lose” and if losing, inflict as much damage on the planet and society as possible. Fortunately there are other forces at work that favor spiritual awakening and the removal of the dark overlords and their earthly partners.

In the late 1950’s and through the 1960’s the catchword for what is now termed “the-powers-that-be” (TPTB) was “military-industrial-complex” and “power elite”. In the 1970’s it was “imperialism” or its variants as a political-economic concept. Not surprisingly, no examination of interlocking directorates and high level financiers demonstrated the true locus of control. Like the story of the three blind men, some thought it was all about who was president or king or queen or prime minister or political party leader or corporate director. Some maintained it was a class issue with the top-most wealthy the most readily identified “public enemy”. Some thought it was purely a few very “influential” families whose names were known. The closest anyone came was eventually identifying the very top echelon of families whose multi-trillion dollar wealth far exceeds that of the usual top billionaire profiles published in magazine for public entertainment. But even there things weren’t clear as some of those families seemed to have competing positions with one another.

At the very highest levels of global influence, it matters not what religious, political, organization, or belief, TPTB has a clear influence. Nearly anyone could be corrupted or at least manipulated in overt or subtle ways. If a person of influence could not be co-opted or otherwise won over, there were always more direct methods of control, regardless of their apparent position of authority.

As long as people foolishly debate political parties and major national political candidates –or debate the latest movie/television trivia, then there is little threat to the TPTB who are focused on global domination and more. Remember, they prefer to rule with as little violent upset to themselves as possible. So as long as everyone is distracted by falsehoods such as global warming, presidential candidates, the latest lies and idiocy promulgated over the mass media, or the personal lives of entertainment celebrities.

It is amazing, the extent to which society can be enthralled into expending energy on the latest banalities of the national candidates, all of whom represent facets of the same control matrix. The way the presidential “races” work is that there are a number of individuals who are designated front-runners by political handlers for the TPTB. Some, but not all, are put in front of the public at the starting line. Some come in mid-way. None of the top designees know who is really the one to win until near the end of the whole charade. The minor candidates who appear to have some support are used to help test or otherwise flush out certain tendencies in the population. Remember that the matrix world is complex with many of variations. Thus the “system controllers” need to find out what may be new and emerging and determine its potential for utilization, co-optation, or threat. All the major candidates know is that they have to cart themselves across the country saying the various combinations of scripted verbiage and they need to the whole show to be convincing. After all, none of them know in advance who will finally “get the nod” from the top – people whose identities they do not know.

Less visible would be the example of the thoughtful control of revision of history. In the USA this can be readily traced to the start of the “great” philanthropic foundations and the establishment of control over educational content for schools and key professorships. Through the funding (or withholding of same) it became a simple matter to control the knowledge base of society.

High-level individuals have on occasion bragged that they are so powerful and conscious of their destiny and role that they really have little concern over any ‘-ism’ – political, religious, economic, or any other difference within the matrix societies of earth and they will direct one movement to attack another. The world “amoral” does not come anywhere close in describing how TPTB really view the world.

In terms of mass society, we refer you to the December issue of Global Awakening News, where we explained some of the concept of “Social Inertial Ballast” that represented about 21.5% of the adult population as measured several years ago in a major social science study. These social tendencies serve as a good negative example of how social memes can severely restrict personal and group behavior and maintain conflicts to proscribed social arenas.

Memes

Overt repression leads to unstable social dynamics. With the exception of the ruling elites fomenting military conflicts, it is always preferred to rely on subtle cooptation and persuasion around certain memes. This in turn makes it easy to manipulate opinions and behaviours.

From the online Wikipedia:

A meme (IPA: [mim]), as defined by memetic theory, constitutes a theoretical unit of cultural information, the building block of culture or cultural evolution which spreads through diffusion propagating from one mind to another analogously to the way in which a gene propagates from one organism to another as a unit of genetic information and of biological evolution.[1] Multiple memes may propagate as cooperative groups called memplexes (meme complexes).

Biologist and evolutionary theorist Richard Dawkins coined the term meme in 1976.[2] He gave as examples tunes, catch-phrases, beliefs, clothing fashions, ways of making pots, and the technology of building arches.

In discussing memes, it is noteworthy that Richard Dawkins is a prominent “debater” who argues against “religion”. Like most intellectuals who know little of spirituality, he equates religion with spirituality and so reinforces a control meme designed to subordinate spirituality to religion. His debating distracts people with false dichotomies and gives them further justification to avoid spiritual matters.

It is no coincidence that the study of cybernetics and what came to be called meme-engineering have a close relationship with one another and were funded by various military and spy organizations. Before the word “meme” was coined, military and spy agencies were funding what could be considered “next generation” psychological and paranormal operations (psy-ops/psi-ops/spy-ops). This included what we would call today “meme engineering”, a branch of social control. Such work has many applications and it is the primary funders who establish their pre-eminent position and dominance over the agendas. This is significant in reading background material about this process and then applying this to social-cultural concerns such as the new thought/new age/consciousness “movement”. One of the advantages of gaining the cooperation of those who are self-centered is that it often takes very little money and effort to “nudge and guide” their careers.

There are those who believe that the new age/new thought social tendencies were deliberately synthesized by a cabal of brilliant social engineers, some of whom were working under the influence of some higher dimensional dark force entities. This assessment would be very close to the reality of it all.

Meme Control

We are now in the period of the breakdown of the ability of the human global controllers to maintain their control in the customary ways. (By “customary”, consider democratic elections that aren’t, freedom from search and seizure that isn’t, freedom of speech that isn’t, presumption of innocence until proven guilty that is no more, perpetual war means peace, etc. -- these are all now ordinary ways of maintaining social control so far.)

True, laws, regulations, and decrees over recent years and decades provide the legal basis for the suspension of nearly all civil rights that most people take for granted in what passes as “free and democratic” society. But rule by overt coercion always has serious ramifications, therefore no matter how arrogant the ruling elites may be, overt force is a last resort measure.

It was thus that new methods were devised, not just the legal ones, but covert ones aimed at subtly keeping societies engaged in maintaining their own state of captivity and enslavement to what many now term the “control matrix”. The control matrix is a subtle and not so subtle web of control that effectively combines elements of vertical hierarchy with horizontal stratification and operates across long periods of time and multiple dimensions of existence.

Decades ago, assessments and plans were made on behalf of the-powers-that-were for the times we are now in. It was expected that the matrix world order would be unable to keep billions of people mindlessly pursuing consumerism and the illusions of social caste climbing.

It was also expected that some major changes to the planetary/space environment would be occurring.

It would therefore be necessary to present the human inmates on Earth with ever growing threats against which they would oblige and continue to be both inmates and jailors and so continue under the domination of the powers that be. Over a few hundred years, nations could rely on occasional false flag events and civil and border wars to manipulate their respective publics, this has limited value. Endless world wars became too disruptive and useful only as temporary solutions to a rapidly changing humanity even under the control of the global elite. Various other threats were considered: disease pandemics, population explosion, climate change, pollution, and more. It was decades ago that global climate change and environment collapse was eventually selected as the first choice to provide a near universal threat under which most people would willingly accept reductions in consumerism, social climbing, democracy, etc. while accepting the ongoing control system of the-powers-that-be.

So now we have a combination of permanent war against fictitious enemies, the concocted “grand unifier” of global warming (or climate change to some), and the soon to come disease issues (with even more in the offing) to keep people in a perverse state of denial, confusion, conflict, upset, fear, and “hope”.

As humanity faces its most important crossroads in millennia of its existence, there are various memes in circulation that are cross-linked with the object of keeping people focused on a low horizon and never seeking what is beyond. They include concepts such as forgiveness, compassion, and service. The meme engineering of these social palliatives equates to allowing the controller to continue their cruel and oppressive ways, to take on the suffering of humanity, and to be engaged in endless mitigation of pain and suffering of a limited number of people while pain and suffering grows to tsunami levels for many. From the lips of many religious leaders and philosophers, “suffering” is deemed to be an intrinsic part of human existence. To such thinking, the very notion of “eliminating of all suffering” is inconceivable and causes cognitive dissonance.

Many who care deeply are so overwhelmed by the growing suffering and tribulations of humanity. On the one hand this comes from a deep sense of caring that is based upon a sense of interconnection with all creation. There is in our global society a broad advocacy for “compassion”. But what is the nature of such “compassion”? Globally influential social, political, and religions leaders present “compassion” in a context that ties everyone to everyone else’s fate. It is also served up as “pity” for consumption by those who think they are suffering less on behalf of those who they think are suffering more. Such distortions are easily accomplished by manipulating positive qualities of people. The result is an over-identification with the plight of others and a forgetting of one’s own power as an evolving spiritual being. Without adequate detachment, over-identification with the plight of all will keep everyone down and un-liberated and here the psychological construct of “survivor guilt” comes into play for some.

This is in contrast to what we presented in a November 2007 article on new community concerning basic elements for new community: trust, caring, and service, within a greater spiritual context. This keys in closely with the question of attachment/detachment.

An important distinction needs to be made concerning compassion. That is, it really refers to a quality of awareness in which one individual can deeply appreciate the interconnectedness of all existence and consciousness. As applied in the human realm, there are two aspects to this: one is empathy and bonding with for those who are suffering (suffering takes many forms, not just material), the other is genuine regard for the care and upliftment of all life, existence and consciousness. It this latter perspective that concerns us most. With application of a certain type of detachment, compassion can be a transitional bridge between the old and new paradigm realities; between an existence based upon falsehood and an existence based upon truth; between a cosmos ruled by false creator gods and a cosmos that is connected and an intimate part of true Source. This is possible because it also evokes a sense of connection and so we coined the term "discernment with compassion".

In the higher Creation levels, compassion is a new quality that is being learned, thanks in large part to the intense regard so many have had for humanity. This was in effect an advocacy, on behalf of humanity, to be accorded further opportunity to be freed of the dark and to be placed on a new track of spiritual evolution -- in connection with true Source.

There are countless meme controls in play, some rely on the falsehoods of “higher education” to extol intellectual knowledge and cleverness, then there are those that extol ignorance. There is the deliberate entanglement of religion with spirituality and vice versa and the constancy of so many “new age/new thought” leaders in promoting organized religions when they really should know the difference. Why are they trying to trick people so?

Then there are countless aphorisms such as “things can’t get any worse, only better”, “this too shall pass”, “we are all in this together”, and the dangerous fallacy of the “average person”, etc., all passing as “common wisdom”. For those people who are unable to see beyond the walls of the prison-park, there are always “issues” and “opinions” to discuss and “entertain” one another, and always a steady stream of dis-informative that is introduced and recycled 24/7 through radio and television and print.

So these so-called “positive change” organizations and their leaders function as magnets, each attracting according to a type of resonance in their fields. Some attract people who are seeking emotional healing, some intellectual stimulus, some social action, some starving for spiritual fulfillment, some are focused on global environmental fears, etc. Like mass marketing to consumers, there is a flavor or menu that the control system has created to nearly match anyone today who is asking questions, seeking something different, etc. So consider then, if there are so many millions of people who are so engaged, why nothing more substantial has occurred to create something new that is in clear contrast to the corrupt and dying social control matrix?

Falsehoods have permeated nearly everything, including these so-called “change-agents” and the meme-control process has been honed to cater to the idiosyncracies of those among the global populace who are most likely to question the nature of the social order and the control matrix. To reiterate, rather than TPTB oppose what is most likely challenge to its global rule, it preferred co-optation, influence, and meme-engineering.

New Age, Old Falsehoods

There are more people than ever who are now talking about “consciousness”, “spirituality”, “awakening”, “healing” humanity, and the planet. Rather than effect change, this has become a multi-billion dollar industry worldwide. So where is the social movement, where are the results of its presumed influence? Where are the choices and actions for change among society? Where is a new life for humanity presenting itself in a large way? Why is there no viable alternative by leading humans presenting itself to the rest of humanity? The answers are simple and disturbing to those who prefer to believe in a “new age”.

First, the main premises, groups, leaders, and memes were developed through the actions of various agencies of dark control since the A-bomb era. Second those who appeared as leaders across the spectrum of the new thought/new age/integral culture phenomena opted to serve self and not serve the liberation of humanity. A rare few, continued on quietly teaching and mentoring and stay true to Source consciousness. Third, groupings of people around these would-be-leaders acted as a buffer and thus helped attracted more people. The result was an effective neutralization of individuals who otherwise could have changed the world by now.

Consider that the TPTB recognized there would be a period of drastic changes, both in the planetary environment and that of consciousness. The material preparations they could tackle, only “limited” by how much wealth they could appropriate for themselves, hence the trillions that are now disappearing. However, it was the expected change in consciousness that they anticipated in the 1950’s that could most pose a threat to their dominance. So being clever and forward-looking, they found it easier to help involve themselves to better control it, rather than oppose it. Hence their eclectic cultivation of various new age/new thought tendencies beginning in the 1950’s and the eventual emphasis on climate change as a big-threat-unifier. This process began to get underway since the start of the A-bomb era in the late 1940’s and snowballed with the growth of the dark ET-TPTB secret alliances.

Evidence of dark force influence in modern society spans centuries, including in the founding of the USA and the global political and economic control system now in place. While the USA could have been a shining light of civil spirituality and human freedom, it was only a potential and not predestined. Overall the dark forces had the upper hand from the inception of the colonies. This is partly through economic and military power and through the transfer of the medieval control memes of religion, private property, and the right of class privilege. Despite this, there were some remarkable social-spiritual initiatives that took place in the fledgling USA that were quite extraordinary for the “modern era”. However, the USA was slated to become like an earth version of the “death star” of the Star Wars movies, a powerful economic, cultural, political and military center from which TPTB could project their power all over the world. And it would be with the manufactured consent of its society.

The dark force influence is also in evidence over a longer period of millennia, although the human record is sparse. The ancient records point to even more time-distant influences. Not just the clever machinations of the global power elite, this evidence emphasizes non-earthly and higher dimensional influences. This is in the human earthly record, like indelible fingerprints and footprints, and it continues to influence and misdirect to this day.

There are more organizations and speakers and seminars and workshops and methods that promise spiritual enlightenment. There are individual people making hundreds of thousands and millions of dollars each year from this burgeoning “market”. While there are a small number of teachers and spiritual practitioners who endeavor to maintain truth and integrity in service to original Source, the majority do not and are more oriented to serving self interests. To the extent that they also serve the deeper motives of the dark, it is mostly unconscious as most prefer to live in (and teach) from a bubble of denial and delusion.

Many who would have their audiences believe them to be true spiritual leaders are for their part misguided and confused. The best thing most of these people could do now is to simply “stop” their activity. Their own confusion and misguideness is really what they are teaching to others under the cover of offering “new” spirituality and so are doing disservice under the guise of goodness. Plainly stated, they are handing out toxic pills with attractive sugary coatings. Contemporary examples abound such as “The Secret”, which teaches people to serve self and personal indulgence. Famous (and clever) new age teachers and channelers instruct that the aberrations of the dark forces are of human origin. These same individuals maintain that the dark force is merely a teaching tool of the original Light of creation and so should be embraced. Human psychology informs the naïve in a similar manner: accept and embrace the dark aspects of your personality, and do not try to clear yourself of them. In short, they provide deeper cover to hide the existence of a dark force influence that is antithetical to original Creation.

In addition to this, there is the ongoing circus of grandiose promises of national or global financial rescue and debt relief, and of course endless speculations about a world saviour, etc. To this we would ask, what would be the value to humanity in its current state of awareness a continuance on its dysfunctional and parasitic social and economic relations?

There are so many naïve people who want to believe in something tangible, that they will open themselves to various thought programming, especially if someone claims it is “channeled from a higher source”. The hidden assumption is that such “authority” must make it correct?

Over the recent months we have been examining the origins and roots of most of what constitutes a broad spectrum of new age/new thought/new spirituality. While any discerning reading of most channeled material shows they report various rubbish mixed with a sweet flavoring, what we had not fully appreciated is the extent and the depth of “the lie” and how it has infected so many people who ordinarily seem to “mean well”. Good intentions only go so far...

Today we find that the term “integral” (as in integral culture, integralism, integral yoga, etc.) was co-opted from the work of Auribindo and Mirra. (These were two individuals who served truth, exposed the falsehood of the dark control, and dedicated their lives to the descent of higher consciousness into humanity as a path to spiritual evolution and liberation from the control of the dark forces.) We have referred to this generically as “integralism”, something widely touted in many new age/new thought circles of influence. It is a post-modern technoword that presents a false “oneness” and masks the powers-that-be as well as those higher level dark forces. In addition, we find the terms “global awakening” and “oneness” also co-opted by many dark forces as well as the NWO global elite and religions who are preparing a new façade for their continued rule.

This new age/new thought/integralism set of memes are now being alloyed with the “global warming” falsehoods to present a combined “threat and solution” falsehood. This provides a rationale to oblige people to unite under the established powers that be. Operationally, such “unity” means further sacrifices by humanity subjugated under the dominance of TPTB. Ever present in the background are the manufactured “threats” from “terrorism”, pandemics, economic depression, WW3, WW4, environmental collapse, planet-x, etc. These examples cannot be dismissed as aberrations since they represent the norm.

Not having been formally named for a public roll-out, this “coalition of the willing” is most likely to focus under the banner of global warming and will prominently feature Gore/Gorbachev and their circles of acolytes and “thought leaders”, including key influencers of various “new age” groups. This programme is being implemented from the decades-old playbook of TPTB that designed to engineer a “peaceful” social control agenda intended to usher in nearly complete global control during a time of mounting crises. This may be rolled out for a “test flight” in 2009. Meanwhile, various players are subtly promoted to various publics to build social awareness.

Interestingly, these tendencies are closely linked by common origin and a network of influencers who are now introducing a third element: acknowledgement of the ET-UFO cover-up for 60 years. It is curious to note the decades-old roots of many of these groups and senior people. It would trace back to the origins of the new age tendencies and key organizations from the 1950’s and 1960’s – origins with murky ties to a panoply of secret agencies and dark force entities with whom they have been allied.

We began this article with the proposition that the crux of the matter can be fundamentally stated as a major bifurcation in the pathway for humanity and for each person: one of spiritual awakening and a spiritually centered existence or ongoing struggle under the miasms of the falsehoods of 3-D reality centered existence.

Those who are truly aware and who have steered clear of these falsehoods are rare.

From the Shadows

From the 1960’s on there was dramatic expansion in breadth and depth throughout society that began as a “human potential movement” and continued to feed into the “me” generation memes, and through today for “authentic self empowerment”, etc. “Consciousness” (a term without direction or function) became equated with spirituality, in a similar manner that religion had been for generations. In this manner everything could be about “consciousness” and once again spiritual re-connection to true Source would be obfuscated. (Consider a simple analogy: confuse the magnetic fields of hand compasses so no one could find North and thus never find “home.) All this was part of vast meme-engineering effort to culminate in this period we are entering. Even “new” breakthroughs in the fields of expanded awareness would be used to make it easier to connect the unsuspecting with the dark force energies that emanate from dimensions beyond ordinary human 3-d. To further assure control over what would most likely threaten TPTB grip on humanity, various corrupt dark guru’s and yogis developed following numbering in the millions. Amongst their followers were (and are) a great many leading individuals in the social-spiritual-progressive circles.

What would you make of it if you knew that secret agencies (“agencies” in its broadest meaning, not just alphabet soup of corp-govt.) and secret groups were responsible for the development of the “new age” and nearly all that it implies and embraces to this day. Consider the possibility of various psy-ops/psi-ops/spy-ops and dark spiritual interests (including some from higher dimensions) collaborated to take bits and pieces of elements from recent and ancient history and create a whole series of organized entities that would begin to experiment with ways to manipulate and eventually control large groups of people for some future eventuality.

Consider the possibility of a well known pseudo-religion/church/cult from the 1950's that developed pop/retail-style storefronts and whose origins were supposedly from channeled material, was involved with various psy-psi-ops agencies? And what if out of such collaboration, a new pseudo-religion/church/cult with its own style of storefronts was created in the early 1970's with a more new age/Christian orientation for greater public appeal – and that also started from channeled material? And consider it developed a global influence over many new age/new thought organizations? What if secret mind control programs from the 1950's and 1960's on to the present were also involved? What if there had been extensive work done for decades on psychotronic technologies involving many of these same people? What if some of the more infamous cults of recent decades were also connected as well as entire social psychology programs at state levels?

What if many of these same individuals were also involved in the definition of entire social engineering scenarios designed to facilitate “alternative” pathways to global control under the-powers-that-be and the dark lords? Today these individuals and their organizations are the very ones most focused around programs whose true purpose is to mask or otherwise obfuscate the true nature of the global elite and the dark forces and in so doing entangle the energy of large numbers of people in dead-end initiatives. They speak of forgiveness, oneness, global awakening, integral society, new consciousness, new age, etc. but their content and actions only serve to perpetuate the rule of the dark on Earth. One of the main assumptions is that duality (or the dark) is all an illusion and a creation of the human mind. This is not unlike telling people that humans are to blame for all the problems in the world and fail to distinguish the dominant role of local and global elites in enslaving and manipulating people. ...Not to mention the effects from dark forces beyond the ordinary human sphere. Their complex of networks directly reaches tens of millions of people worldwide and in turn influences the memes of hundreds of millions by natural extension. In an application of sophisticated mass psychology, it informs the unsuspecting that “it is all in their head” and that they simply need to correct/heal their attitude and fit in better with human life (in the matrix world). Even non-conformity becomes a type of conformity as anyone consciously involved in the period from the late 1960's through late 1970's would know. Now consider again why there has not been a coherent and successful movement for socially and spiritually enlightened change.

At the very top is a modest sized network of individuals who generally pull the strings for scores of organizations. While most, if not all these individuals are not members of the top echelon of the global controllers, they willingly take part in the deception and control process facilitated by self-deception and egocentrism.

What if some of the most influential social control/futurists were also involved in these same organizations that later mapped out scenarios for a new world order under the control of the-powers-that-be? And what if much of the guiding intelligence behind much of this was monitored by TPTB and facilitated by those that had the benefit of thousands of years' history over humans and that existed in a higher dimension? And what if such guiding dark intelligences had been setting up the present situation in order to maintain control during an expected period of great cosmic changes?

Consider that the “Matrix” movies “red pill” that provided access to an alternate reality that ultimately was under the control of matrix controllers. Then consider that there never was any true liberation of humanity and that the “Matrix” simply re-projected itself anew.

A Few Comments on Channeling

What if much of the channeled materials today are deliberate disinformation and misinformation? How does one reconcile the content of such material with the often ridiculous and ignorant assertions of the channel themselves?

Nearly all channeled material purportedly originates from off-world or “higher dimensional” beings, “ascended masters”, deceased children and other relations, and various historical figures, etc. For some unexplained reason, these are presumed to be benevolent in their intent and carry the implicit premise that since the material was from some entity of “higher” awareness and it should be accepted as an authoritative source. This is the modality of the global controllers – disempowerment by reliance on external authorities.

I do not object to channeled information per se, a rare few such sources offer worthwhile insights. However, most channeled material tends to be vague, of very low quality, and usually reflects little comprehension of how the human world actually works. More often than not it carries a myopic “don’t worry be happy” perspective. At times it carries deliberate lies and distortions. Generally the channel has little idea of how the world operates and makes absurd claims and interpretations of their own. Personality-based distortions of the channel also affect the content and meaning of the material. Lastly there usually is no way to verify what the true nature or intent is of the channel source itself, regards of who/what it claims to be.

Those channels who successfully maintain falsehoods need to keep their clientele happy and the crowds returning. To do this they must dispense some truths, provide accurate enough readings on individuals’ questions, and make predictions that are highly probable. After that it is pure show for the crowds. Given the influence of the dark forces over what/who are often called the “ascended” beings, the challenge to human discernment is very great indeed, especially with so many people who “want to believe”. As it is in the human “as below” realm, those in control would rather acknowledge some partial or peripheral truths to keep people from finding the locus of control and the deeper truth behind it all.

Some Litmus Tests

Here are examples of falsehoods that are used to mask the true nature of the reality. This list is not intended to be comprehensive.

Religion is the same as spirituality; religions are a form of spiritual expression, etc.

This reinforces the hold that the so-called “great” religions have on untold billions of people. Equating or subordinating spirituality to religion, conveniently supports keeping true spirituality from guiding civil society and is used to justify laws requiring separation of “church and state”. Of course such separation is a falsehood itself, given the close relationship between dominant religions have with those in political power.

Spirituality (and God) is something apart from the individual, it is higher and above you.

This is another way that spirituality is kept separate from social leadership and social governance. This is comparable to the “as above” principle of the formation of a separateness from Creation by the Dark. True spirituality concerning higher dimensions of existence and consciousness connects directly to original Source where the dark forces simply not exist.

Global warming, climate change, Planet-X, terrorism, Islamicism, etc. are “common threats” that require a “common front” of all humans.

This is an example of fear-based memes to facilitate compliance with the dominant paradigm of the powers-that-be and negates higher self and original Source. At the basis of these is the assumption that humanity itself is the “enemy” and must be changed and controlled by those who “know best” (meaning TPTB). This is closely linked to core new age teachings that assert that there is no dark force, that it is of human origin, and so the “hidden hand” continues in its concealment.

Separation from original Source has always been an illusion.

Technically, you could say that nearly everyone carries with them a spark of original Creation and it is part of your “call-home transceiver” and so is not separate from Source. However, practically this connection has been shut down until recently and suppressed for so long, it would be like trying to navigate with a hand held compass through a maze of magnetic iron ore! Closely connected with this separation falsehood is the assertion that the Earthly 3-d world is in effect a projection in the mind, which is thus causally responsible for everything that appears to us as the physical world. This is why “outside help” has been called in from realms outside of the control of the dark.

Humanity must be “free” to express itself however it chooses and its destiny is to be explorer of creation.

This is closely connected with the main religions that humanity is central to Creation. Without spiritual awakening and re-connection to Source, this is a collective version of serving self and further reinforces separation from Source. It is a terrible hubris for humanity in its presently unenlightened and distorted state to consider spreading its infection to the stars. A spiritually awakened humanity however would be able to fulfill its destiny to grow into various levels of creatorship.

Equating Lucifer as a direct representative of “Source” or as the creator god of humans.

This is at the core of many new age/new thought tendencies and teachings. It is closely related to another corollary that the dark force has been a projection or psycho-spiritual construct of humanity. In this context, the cleverest of the dark teachings will acknowledge the existence of the “Dark” as a force of influence. However it never acknowledges the this dark force is an inherently hostile and antithetical dynamic to original Creation and that it actually seeks to place itself as the center of (its) creation domain.

“You” create “your” “own” reality. (...and variations on this theme.)

This teaches that creating reality is a matter of power and will and the personal self. It is significant that in this most common formulation, the separate “I” is reinforced three times. Underlying this is the premise that there is no need to engage the power of true Creation in order to create and thus as a teaching promotes separation and the arrogance of the dark forces. This represents an “as below” counter part to the “as above” dynamic of the primary dark force that seeks to control and contain all of Creation under itself. If done in a context of separation from original Source it will sooner or later lead to no good. Genuine creating of reality is accomplished in concert with the power and intent of true Creation. Higher self plays a role in bridging this process.

Dark and Light are a natural dynamic of opposites that is necessary for existence.

From the perspective of true Oneness and original Creation, there is no need for “separateness” or duality and at that level of consciousness this energetic barely exists as an abstraction. The very concept that opposites are needed for there to be a stimulus to creation is a distorted construct that only exists within the portion of Creation that has been dominated by the dark forces --to teach otherwise would be antithetical to the existence of the dark. So yes, such conflict would seem “natural” from the perspective of Darkness and that which it dominates. “Duality” is a relative term used to describe a situation in which expanded human awareness becomes aware of the existence of something else – that which is referred to as the dark force – something antithetical to true Source and Creation. The teachings in the human realm that are about “embracing the dark”, combining “the dark and the light”, etc., are all distortions that are encouraged by the dark forces so as to keep them functional.

Saviours in secret...

Lastly, since this is an election year in the USA, an important center for dark rule on Earth, one should seriously question the intention and agendas of anyone who would so claim that any leading candidate for national office is really a social or spiritual “savior” whose words and actions and top advisors are not be examined critically. What is their agenda? Why would anyone accept such information without personal direct confirmation? Who would hand out such endorsements?

In Conclusion

People of good hearts and minds (but lacking in discernment) were taken in and involved in legitimizing much of the new age/new thought tendencies and in turn entangled others. It is hoped this material will be of use to those who are trying to see beyond the “prison-park”. It would be good to adopt a Diogenes-like attitude in searching for truth. Always ask for the deeper or higher truth to be revealed and assume that so far, most of human civilization and society is based upon falsehoods layered upon falsehoods masquerading as truth. From our perspective, this will soon enough be rectified.

As above: there are those false gods and false creation with their subordinate entities. As below: there are those who would be the powers that be/dark controller elite. There are also those who maintained connection to their true origins, despite the terrible difficulties of entering into this level of mis-creation. As above and as below, there are those who never abandoned their primary connection with Original Source and all that implies. Then there are those on the fence, waiting to see who comes out ahead so they know which way to go.

Catastrophic wars involving powerful technologies occurred several thousand years ago. There was also a period in which the dominant elite “on the ground” generally followed the guidance of their dark overlords and false gods. Help has arrived and the dark lords no longer have the same level of influence and control over their human hosts and allies as they did before. The situation is changing also while a major galactic cycle shifts.

“True Oneness with Original Creation is a high level resonance and attractor through which genuine healing and spiritual evolution can take place. It is also the avenue for a true global awakening. That is why we are here after all, to know the difference, help undo the dark force influences, and not to become energy fodder for the dark forces.”

“After 12,000 years, when the sun goes to the place in its orbit which is farthest from Brahma, the grand center . . . [then] dharma, the mental virtue, comes to such a reduced state that man cannot grasp anything beyond the gross material creation.”

“When the sun in its revolution around its dual comes to the place nearest to this grand center, the seat of Brahma (an event which takes place when the Autumnal Equinox comes to the first point of Aries), dharma, the mental virtue, becomes so much developed that man can easily comprehend all, even the mysteries of the spirit.” – Sri Yukteswar, The Holy Science (1894)

And so we are here. A major bifurcation occurring along the lines of spiritual consciousness and the very energetic structures of reality.
